

Diffuse hyperthyroid goiter treated with I131, papillary carcinoma occurring after iodine radioisotope treatment, and thyroxine malabsorption. A clinical case
Bocio difuso hipertiroideo, tratado con I131, cancer papilar de aparición post radioyodo y malab

Devoto,

Aravena,

Hidalgo,

Gajardo,

Lioi,

Soto,

Barrera,

Munizaga,

A 50 year-old male with diffuse hyperthyroid goiter treated with I131 who develops a papillary carcinoma is presented. After thyroid resection, substitution therapy with thyroid hormone (levothyroxine) was started, and a selective malabsorption for this hormone was verified.